

UK Africa Trade Expo – Disclaimer

UK Africa Trade Expo is a networking platform designed to foster business connections between investors, entrepreneurs, and organizations. While UK Africa Trade Expo, through Capital Crown Holdings, conducts due diligence and feasibility studies on projects, organizations, and individuals attending the event, we do not assume responsibility for any investment losses.

Investing of any kind carries risk, and it is possible to lose some or all of your money. Connections made at UK Africa Trade Expo are general in nature, and introductions, joint ventures, partnerships, or strategies discussed may not be appropriate for all individuals or business situations. We make no representation regarding the likelihood or probability that any actual or hypothetical investment will achieve a particular outcome or perform in any predictable manner.

Legal & Privacy

By submitting your information, you agree to the UKATE Privacy Policy and acknowledge that your data will be used for communication and marketing purposes.

- We do not sell business opportunities, “get rich quick” programs, or money-making schemes.
- We believe that education can empower individuals to make informed investment decisions, but we do not guarantee success in our introductions.
- We do not promise financial returns from attending our events.
- All event materials and content are the intellectual property of UK Africa Trade Expo and are protected by copyright. Unauthorized duplication, reproduction, or distribution is strictly prohibited.

Investment Risk Advisory

Investing of any kind carries risk, and it is possible to lose some or all of your money. The training and networking opportunities provided are general in nature and may not be suitable for all business circumstances.

Statements and experiences shared by attendees are personal opinions and do not guarantee similar results for all participants. Outcomes depend on individual effort, skill, market conditions, and other external factors. We do not measure financial performance, and participation or joint ventures or investments initiated at our event does not ensure financial success.

There is no assurance that past results can be replicated in the future. The business environment is dynamic, and unforeseen risks may impact investment performance. UK Africa Trade Expo and its affiliates are not liable for any business success or failure resulting from engagements initiated through our platform.
